VOL. XLVII., No. 18.

NEW YORK, May 4, 1895.

WHOLE No. 1214

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

THE FEMALE OFFENDER.

By Prof. CAESAR LOMBROSO and WILLIAM FERRERO. The first volume in the Criminology Series, edited by W. DOUGLAS MORRISON. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

In "The Female Offender" we see the manner in which Lombroso applies the anthropological method. He examines whether, and to what extent, the female criminal differs from the average woman in bodily and mental characteristics. As a result of this examination he arrives at many interesting conclusions as to the personal or individual conditions which are calculated to turn women into offenders against criminal law.

GENERAL SHERIDAN.

By General HENRY E. DAVIES. With portrait and maps. A new volume in the Great Commanders Series. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.50.

General Davies served with distinction in the Cavalry Corps of the Army of the Potomac under General Sheridan, and took part in the latter's numerous battles. His close military and personal association with General Sheridan imparts a peculiar value to this biography.

A DICTIONARY OF TERMS, PHRASES, AND QUOTATIONS.

The Terms and Phrases edited by the Rev. H. PERCY SMITH, M. A., of Balliol College, Oxford. The Quotations compiled for the American edition by HELEN KENDRICK JOHNSON. New edition. 8vo, half cloth, $3.00.

This work brings together such words, expressions, quotations, etc., English or other, as are among the more uncommon in current literature and require explanations for the general reader. Some of the terms are more or less technical, some are simply uncommon, some concern historical, geographical, or mythological allusion, and some belong to other languages. The book supplies the information needed by general readers who wish to follow the text of any work in ordinary English literature.

THE NEW MOON.

By C. E. RAIMOND, author of "George Mandeville's Husband," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

The author has proved an ability to tell a story interestingly, and characterized by fine literary quality. A tale so acute in analysis and so modern in feeling as "The New Moon" will be certain of a favorable reception.

FRIEDRICH FROEBEL'S PEDAGOGICS OF THE KINDERGARTEN;

Or, His Ideas concerning the Play and Playthings of the Child. Translated by JOSEPHINE JARVIS. International Education Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This book holds the keynote of the "New Education," and will assist many in a correct comprehension of the true principles underlying the practical outcome of Froebel's thought. Although extant for nearly fifty years, his ideas are still in need of elucidation, and the average kindergartner and primary-school teacher grasps but a superficial meaning of the methods suggested.

THE WISH.

A Novel. By HERMANN SUDERMANN. With a Biographical Introduction by ELIZABETH LEE. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Competent critics have assigned to Sudermann a rank in Germany corresponding to that of Kipling and Barrie in England, although his point of view, which is more or less that of Ibsen, is quite distinct. While he pictures modern life in its manifold aspects, he has sought to maintain Joubert's maxim that "fiction has no right to exist unless it is more beautiful than reality." Sudermann has gained a place in contemporary literature which renders some knowledge of his art indispensable, and it is believed that his powerful romance "The Wish" will be welcomed by observant readers.

FIDELIS.

By ADA CAMBRIDGE, author of "A Marriage Ceremony," "A Little Minx," etc. No. 167, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

The animated and always interesting stories of Ada Cambridge have obtained a well-merited popularity. In some respects "Fidelis" is her most ambitious work, and it is safe to predict for it a marked success among readers of wholesome and entertaining fiction.

MR. HERBERT SPENCER ON THE LAND QUESTION.

A Correction of Current Misconceptions of his Views. Including a Reprint, in Parallel Columns, of Chapter IX. of "Social Statics" (1851), and Pertinent Extracts from "Justice" (1891). With a Preface. 12mo, flexible cloth, 25 cents.

For sale by all booksellers; or will be sent by mail on receipt of price by the publishers,

D. APPLETON & CO., 72 Fifth Avenue, New York.

ROBERTS' RECENT BOOKS.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE LOWMAN & HANFORD STATIONERY AND PRINTING CO., of Seattle, Washington, will shortly publish a handbook on Alaska, by Miner W. Bruce. Mr. Bruce has for years been the special agent for the U. S. Census, Treasury and Interior Departments and organizer of the U. S. Reindeer station at Port Clarence, Arctic Alaska, and he is well fitted to speak of the condition, resources and topography of the region. His work will be a comprehensive summary of the Alaska of to-day, describing the chief tourist routes, the natural wonders of the country, and furnishing an account of the famous Yukon gold fields; the text will be supplemented by many illustrations and a detailed and accurate map.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have just issued three new editions of their "Oxford" Text Bibles; four new editions of "Oxford" Reference Bibles; and four new editions of genuine "Oxford" Teachers' Bibles, which are models in all respects, beautifully printed, strongly bound, and represent large type in small books in the most satisfactory manner. Travellers are now on the road, and there should be a great demand for this line of Bibles at satisfactory prices. An unusually large number of new styles of "Oxford" Prayer Books and Hymnals in bindings embracing all the new leathers are also ready, as well as a long line of Sunday-school and other Juvenile literature, including new editions of R. M. Ballantyne's books for boys.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on Saturday, May 11, "The Mississippi Basin," describing the struggle between France and England, 1697-1763, in which the author, Justin Winsor, takes up the story of American exploration where he left it in his former volume, "Cartier to Frontenac"; "Critical Sketches of Some Federal and Confederate Commanders," by writers specially equipped for the difficult task; "Letters of Celia Thaxter," with five portraits; "Life of Charles F. Barnard," by Francis Tiffany; "Life of Gen. Thomas Pinckney," by Rev. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney; "Selected Essays of James Darmesteter," translated from the French by Morris Jastrow; and "Ten New England Blossoms and Their Insect Visitors," by Clarence M. Weed. Eliza Orne White's "Winterborough," and "At Daybreak," by A. Stirling, will appear in the Riverside Paper Series, and M. F. Sweetser's "American Guide Books" will be ready, all revised up to date.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "The Female Offender," the latest contribution to the literature of criminology, by Prof. Cæsar Lombroso and William Ferrero. In this work Lombroso applies his well-known anthropological methods to women criminals, with the purpose of determining whether and to what extent the female offender differs from the average woman in physical and mental characteristics. They also publish a new volume in the Great Commanders Series, being a biography of "General Sheridan," by Gen. Henry E. Davies; Froebel's "Pedagogics of the Kindergarten," translated by Josephine Jarvis, in the International Education Series; a collection of excerpts from Herbert Spencer, setting forth his views on the land question and correcting "current misconceptions of his views"; and three new novels, "The New Moon," by C. E. Raimond, author of "George Mandeville's Husband"; "The Wish," by Hermann Sudermann, who pictures modern life from a distinctly individual standpoint savoring of Ibsen; and "Fidelis," a bright love story by Ada Cambridge. This house has also issued a new edition of Smith's "Dictionary of Terms, Phrases and Quotations."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initials designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

A translation of Prof. Cohn's System der Finanzwissenschaft, revised by the author. Contents: Introduction relates to the place of the science of finance in economic science and its historical development. Bk. 1, has for its subject "The public economy"; Bk. 2, "The theory of taxation," and Bk. 4, "Public credit." The third book, dealing with the German tax legislation of the present time, has been omitted, as it is entirely historical in character, and as the German edition is six years old, it is not up to date.

One of the first attempts made to publish a collection of Coleridge's letters. The selection has been made from a great mass of correspondence, written to his family, to Southey, De Quincey and other literary contemporaries. The letters are arranged in chronological order, and are intended rather to illustrate the story of the writer's life than to embody his critical opinions, or to record the development of his philo-

The scene is Fort Assinaboine, in Northern Montana. The hero, a graduate of West Point, having been assigned to a cavalry regiment at this post, becomes an intimate of the first-lieutenant, with whom he makes frequent trips in the Bear-paw Mountains. The pair are eventually attacked on a mountain-pass by a horned sheep and a grizzly bear, and after this and other perilous adventures, become the prisoners of the Blackfeet Indians. The interest centres in a dramatic scene which follows this incident.

A history of Newfoundland from its earliest settlement, with a summary of its treatment by Great Britain in recent years. Its trend is, that England would be wise to cede the island to America, and that the natives would benefit greatly by the transfer.

Froebel, F. Friederich Froebel's pedagogics of the kindergarten; or, his ideas concerning the play and playthings of the child; tr. by Josephine Jarvis. N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. 37+337 p. D. (International education ser., no. 30.) cl., $1.50. [1453]

A translation of fifteen of the essays of Froebel collected by Wichard Lange into a volume entitled, Die Pädagogik des Kindergartens, and published in Berlin, 1861. The chief value of the volume is in the thorough-going discussion of the first five gifts.

Gannett, W. C. The house beautiful. Bost., Ja. H. West, [1895.] 3-26 p. sq. S. pap., 15 c. [1454]

Refers to our earthly material home; its adornment and the taste and love and refinement that make it charming and attractive.

Gardner, Alice. Julian, philosopher and emperor and the last struggle of paganism against Christianity. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1895. c. 20+364 p. il. D. (Heroes of the nations ser., no. 13.) cl., $1.50; hf. mor., $1.75. [1455]

Julian, commonly called the apostate, was a nephew of Constantine the Great; he was for about a year and eight months (361-363) Roman Emperor. He was trained to the profession of the Christian religion, but went back to the idealized union of paganism and philosophy current among the rhetoricians of the time. The work opens with an account of the Roman world under Constantine. After follows the story of Julian's parentage, childhood, education, elevation to the Caesarship; his religion and philosophy; his position as religious reformer and controversialist; his policy against the Christians; his reforms, recreations, etc.

- Glascocock, Will H. Stories of Columbia. N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. '94. 5+196 p. pors. il. D. cl., $1. [1458]
The subjects of the stories are: The sea kings; Columbus pleading the cause of America; Columbus in the King and Queen's gardens; Columbus in poverty and in chains; The red man of the forest and plain; The mound builders; Our pilgrim fathers; Our unkind mother; The father of American liberty; The friend of American liberty; The daughters of the Revolution; The pioneers of the Mississippi valley; Two famous rides; Some naval heroes; Some American boys of genius.
- *Goldsmith, Oliver. Vicar of Wakefield; with an introductory sketch on Goldsmith's literary style. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1895. 16°, (Riverside lit. ser., double no., no. 78.) pap., net, 30 c.; cl., net, 40 c. [1459]
- Haines, Mrs. Flora E. A keramic study: a chapter in the history of half a dozen dinner plates. Bangor, Me., published by the author, Flora E. Haines, 1895. c. 3-127 p. S. buckram, 75 c. [1460]
An account of the making of six plates in the Staffordshire potteries as witnessed by Mrs. Haines in a recent visit to England. The plates were specially made for her, and she was allowed to observe and make notes of all the many steps taken in their construction and decoration. These details are given in a way that those interested in keramics will find instructive.
- Halévy, Ludovic. The Abbé Constantin; il. by Madeline Lemaire. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1895. 4+202 p. S. (Phenix ser.) cl., 40 c. [1461]
- Hartt, Irene W. How to get married although a woman; or, the art of pleasing men, by a young widow. [Anon.] N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie Pub. Co., [1895.] 2-144 p. D. (Sunset ser., no. 44.) pap., 25 c. [1462]
The "young widow" discourses about: Girls and matrimony; The girl whom men like; The girl who wins; The girl who fails; Some unfailing methods; A word of warning; The secret of the widow's power; "Lady Beauty"; The loved wife.
- Hayward, Jane Mary. Bird notes; ed. by Emma Hubbard; with fifteen il. from drawings by G. E. Lodge. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1895. 17+181 p. S. cl., $1.75. [1463]
Notes made from personal observation of the habits and appearance of various English birds.
- *Hefe, K: Jos. A history of the councils of the church from the original documents; tr. from the German, with the author's approbation and ed., by W: R. Clark. V. 4. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. 8°, cl., $4.50. [1464]
- Hemenway, H: Bixby. Healthful womanhood and childhood: plain talks to non-professional readers; relative to healthy and diseased conditions peculiar to women and concerning the care of young children. Evanston, Ill., V. T. Hemenway & Co., 1894 [1895.] c. 2-290 p. il. D. cl., $2. [1465]
- Hill, Beveridge. The story of a cañon. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1895. c. 2+452 p. D. cl., $1.50; pap., 50 c. [1466]
The daily life, with its toils and hardships, anxieties and dangers, of the hardy mountaineers and miners of the Highlands of Colorado is illustrated through a story which also shows how the silver question has touched and affected the miners. The silver question is the prominent topic throughout, a strong argument being made for a double standard and free coinage.
- Hope, Anthony, [pseud. for Anthony Hope Hawkins.] A change of air. Chic., E. A. Weeks & Co., [1895.] 2-240 p. D. [Enterprise ser., no. 23.] pap., 25 c. [1467]
See notice, "Weekly Record," P.W., August 18, 1894, [1177.]
- Howlett, Rev. T: Rosling. Anglo-Israel, the Jewish problem; with supplement: the ten lost tribes of Israel found and identified in the Anglo-Saxon race. 4th ed. Phil., published by the author, Rev. T. Rosling Howlett, 16 South Front St., 1894 [1895.] c. '92. 6+158+103+12 p. por. map, D. cl., $1. [1468]
Dr. Howlett was recently pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, Phila., Pa. He gives ethnological, philological, geographical, monumental, historical and scriptural proof in corroboration of his argument, that the lost tribes of Israel live in the Anglo-Saxon people of to-day.
- *Indiana citations and conflicting cases, being a complete compilation of all citations of the Ind. supreme court reports from 1st Blackford to v. 135 inclusive, and appellate court reports, v. 1 to 7 inclusive; also all citations to Ind. reports contained in the U. - MacLean, J. P. Introduction to the study of the Gospel of St. John; with an inter-linear literal translation of the Greek text of Stephens, 1550; with the authorized version conveniently presented in the margins for ready reference, and with the various readings of the editions of Elzevir, 1624, Griesbach, Lachmann, Tischendorf, Tregelles, Alford and Wordsworth. Cin., O., The Robert Clarke Co., 1895. c. 2-250 p. O. cl., $1.50. [1478]
- *Marshall, H. Rutgers. Aesthetic principles. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1895. 198 p. 12°, cl., $1.25. [1479]
- Mason, Otis T. The origins of invention: a study of industry among primitive peoples. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. 6-419 p. il. D. (Contemporary science ser.) cl., $1.25. [1480]
- Traces some of our modern industries to their origins, and shows how the genius of man, working upon and influenced by the resources and the forces of nature, learned its first lessons in the art of inventing. The subjects treated are: Tools and mechanical devices; Invention and uses of fire; Stone-working; The potter's art; Primitive uses of plants; The textile industry; War on the animal kingdom; Capture and domestication of animals; Travel and transportation; The art of war.
- *Memoirs of a Protestant, condemned to the galleys of France for his religion written by himself; tr. by Oliver Goldsmith; introd. by Austin Dobson. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1895. 2 v., 8°, buckram, $2.50. [1481]
- Moore, Frank Frankfort. One fair daughter: her story. Chic., E. A. Weeks & Co., [1895.] c. 6+332 p. il. D. (Lucile ser., no. 1.) pap., 50 c. [1482]
- The pivot upon which the story turns is the rather impossible deception perpetrated by Philippa Luscomb to save her father from the consequences of a crime. It colors her whole life and interferes seriously with her intention of making an advantageous marriage. She is loved by several men during a gay season in London, and shows herself utterly heartless and unscrupulous. Her unprincipled career is described with unquestionable wit, no excuses being offered for her immorality. A cynical and amusing picture of London society and its latest "fads" and "slang" serves as a constant background.
- *Muret, E., ed. Encyclopædic English-German and German-English dictionary. Unabridged ed. In about 20 pts. Pt. 15, English-German. Nee-Pai. N. Y., International News Co., 1895. 1433-1528 p. O. pap., subs., 50 c. [1483]

- Contains all the decisions of the supreme courts of Minn., Wis., Iowa, Mich., Neb., No. Dak., So. Dak., Dec. 22, 1894-Feb. 23, 1895. With tables of northwestern cases published in v. 87, Iowa reports; 55, Minn. reports; 40, Neb. reports; 3, No. Dak. reports. A table of statutes construed is given in the index.
- *Oliver, B. L. Forms of practice; or, American precedents, in personal and real actions. 5th rev. enl. ed., by Bordman Hall. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1895. c. 48+773 p. O. shp., $6. [1492]
- Organia, Ferdinando, ed. Early Venetian printing illustrated. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. 229 p. il. Q. cl., $7.50. [1493]
- A scrap-book of specimens of early Italian printing, including borders, woodcuts, initials, types, music, water-marks and bindings, many of them in color. The work also contains a note on the scope of the work by Ferd. Organia of Venice, the originator of the work; and chapters on "The art of printing in Venice," "Printers' marks," "Water-marks," and "The printing of music," all by C. Castellani. A good index makes every division of the work readily accessible.
- *Pennsylvania. Supreme ct. Reports, v. 164, by Ja. Monaghan, st. rep.; cont. cases decided at Oct. term, 1894. N. Y. and Alb. Banks & Bros., 1895. c. 23+712 p. O. shp., $3.50. [1494]
- *Petrie, W. M. Flinders. A history of Egypt. V. 1. From the earliest times to the XVI. dynasty. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner's Sons, 1894 [1895.] il. 12°, cl., $2.25. [1495]
- Powell, J. W. Physiographic regions of the United States. N. Y., American Book Co., [1895.] c. 65-100 p. F. (National geographic monographs, v. 1, no. 3.) pap., 20 c. [1496]
- The purpose is to define the great slopes, and then a greater number of physiographic regions, which are again divided into districts, and to indicate some of their most important characteristics. Three of the regions have been selected for a somewhat more elaborate description—one of plains, one of plateaus, and one of mountains—thus illustrating briefly all three types. These regions are the Atlantic plains, the Colorado plateaus, and the Pacific Mountains taking the eastern, a midland, and the western region.
- Raimond, C. E., (pseud.) The new moon.

- N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. 2+213 p. D. cl., $1. [1497]
The author of "George Mandeville's husband" describes another type of the disagreeable woman in this novel—the woman who never grows old mentally, and who is deeply superstitious. Dr. Geoffrey Monroe, a successful London physician, has for fifteen or more years been united to such a woman, who is also an hysterical invalid. Into his barren life comes one day Dorothy Lance. For five years they are loving friends and nothing more—a tragedy ending their romance.
- Reagan, H. C. The electrical engineers' and students' chart and handbook of the Brush arc light system. N. Y., Norman W. Henley & Co., 1895. 8°, cl., $1. [1498]
- Rhys, Ernest, ed. Lyrical poetry from the Bible. V. 1. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1895. 231 p. 16°, (Lyric poet ser.) cl., $1. [1499]
- Richards, Mrs. Laura E. Jim of Hellas; or, in durance vile; [also] Bethesda Pool. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1895. c. 5-72 p. D. hf. cl., 50 c. [1500]
Two little romances of the New England coast. The first tells how "Jim of Hellas," a shipwrecked Greek sailor, won the heart of a middle-aged New England spinster; the second story, "The troubling of Bethesda Pool," brings together two elderly lovers and satisfactorily concludes the troubled courtship of two young lovers.
- Roberts, J. W. Looking within: the misleading tendencies of "Looking backward," made manifest. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1893 [1895.] c. 3+279 p. D. pap., 50 c. [1501]
See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., Aug. 12, 1893.
- Sawtelle, Mary Anna and Alice Eliz. An olio of verse. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1895. c. 7+51 p. S. cl., 75 c. [1502]
Many of these poems appeared in the columns of the Boston Literary World and The Transcript of Boston.

- Scudder, Horace E. George Washington. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1895. 16°, (Riverside lit. ser., double no., no. 75.) pap., net, 30 c.; cl., net, 40 c. [1505]
- Sensations de Nouvelle-France (Montreal—Trois-Rivières—Québec); fragments imaginaires d'un ouvrage de Paul Bourget; recueillis et publiés par l'un de ses fervents disciples d'Amerique. Bost., Sylva Clapin, 7 Park sq., 1895. 5-95 p. D. pap., 50 c. [1506] Treats of Canada as Bourget's "Outre-Mer" did of the United States. This is an imaginary work after the style of Bourget, by one of his American admirers, recounting his impressions of a journey to Montreal, Trois-Rivières and Quebec. Canadian traits and customs are contrasted with American ways.
- Shakespeare, W. A midsummer night's dream. V. 10 of Variorum ed., ed. by Horace Howard Furness. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1895. 350 p. 8°, cl., $4. [1507]

- Weston, Ja. A. Historic doubts as to the execution of Marshal Ney. N. Y., T. Whitaker, 1895. c. 7+310 p. pors. il. O. cl., $3. [1518]
The author, who is rector of the Church of the Ascension at Hickory, N. C., had strong suspicions that Peter S. Ney, who died in his town in 1846, was the celebrated Marshal Ney, supposed to have been executed under Louis xviii. He has spent twelve years of unceasing labor in hunting up proofs to vindicate this theory and this book is the outcome. It is divided into two parts, the first giving detailed history of France during the first empire, the second first summing up many errors of history as written and then submitting many authenticated proofs to establish his conviction of the identity of the French and Carolina hero.
- Whately, R., D.D. Historic doubts relative to Napoleon Buonaparte. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, [1895.] 88 p. D. cl., 75 c. [1519]
This work was first published, anonymously, in 1819, since which time it has passed through a number of editions. A clever jeu d'esprit against excessive skepticism as applied to the gospel history.
- Wordsworth, W. Intimations of immortality, and other poems; with biographical sketch and notes. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1895. 16°, (Riverside lit. ser., no. 76.) pap., net, 15 c. [1520]

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 4, 1895.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SUMMER READING.

BACKWARD as the season has been, the next month must be called the beginning of summer, and preparations for all things connected with summer rest and recreation are now occupying the heads and hands of the large number of fortunate, prosperous Americans to whom summer has all through their lives meant a good time.

The educated and uneducated portions of the "reading public" cannot spend a summer without books, even if it is only a magazine or a paper book to hold in their hands while napping in a hammock or flirting on the beach.

Summer offers a great opportunity for booksellers to make sales if they only take the necessary trouble to bring to the knowledge of summer travellers the reading-matter the publishers provide so lavishly. The issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for May 25 will be devoted to "Summer Reading." For seventeen years publishers and booksellers have encouraged us to make our summer issue prettier and more useful every season. This medium properly placed by booksellers should bring many inquiries for the very best of summer literature. It is full of attractive reading-matter selected with care from the newest novels, works of description and books devoted to nature, sports and amusements, and its pages are brightened by many pictures. It can be made even more attractive if publishers will at once notify us which of their books they desire to bring to the notice of readers and if booksellers will decide quickly how many of the "Summer Reading" they can place among their customers, that we may get to press early and have all the advantage of unhurried presswork to make the number more pleasing to the exacting eyes of people who, many of them, have spent all their lives among pretty things.

Only the newest books are drawn from for the selected reading-matter, but there is always a leading article on some special phase of summer life or favorite form of pleasure with long lists of books in which summer themes are treated. The full list of new novels and the full lists of books on every kind of sport have met with praise year by year. We are putting a new cover on the number, and outside and inside we shall endeavor to meet the wishes of publishers and booksellers, and the far more easily attracted reader.

Publishers should not confine their advertisements to the very newest books. People have time in summer and many can be tempted into rereading books that long ago were favorites. Books of small size of every kind are suitable for summer satchels. Some people take their rest in solving abstruse problems, and the more books a publisher's advertisement brings to the attention of the reader the more increases the bookseller's chance that some of them may make this reader covet.

People have had a hard winter and are going to rest. Be sure they carry with them a number of "Summer Reading" that bears the imprint of the bookseller at home and makes them feel it a duty to send their orders to the man who gratuitously supplied this pretty epitome of the attractive literature of the summer of 1895.

POSTAL MATTERS.

INTERNATIONAL AND LOCAL LAW.

THE mails carried by the unfortunate Elbe have become the subject of an interesting law case. The Belgian fishermen who secured the bag handed it over to their master, Mr. Hamman, member of the Belgian House of Representatives for Ostend. The Belgian postal authorities demanded the bag, but Mr. Hamman refused to release it until the German Consul deposited 70,000 francs ($14,000) with him. The fishermen claim one-third of the value contained in the bag, which had 350 registered letters and parcels, among them $21,000 in American notes. The courts will have to decide whether mail matter can be claimed under the wrecking laws of any country. The postal authorities claim that mail-bags are international property and therefore exempt from local laws and customs.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL REEVE'S OPINION CONFIRMED.

ACCORDING to a press despatch Attorney-General Olney on April 21 confirmed Solicitor-General Reeve's opinion that the copyright law of March 3, 1891, is not applicable to books copyrighted prior to that date and that such books may be printed abroad and imported by the payment of 25 per cent. The opinion of Gen. Olney as we go to press could not be obtained in full, and we must therefore defer its discussion.

"DID DU MAURIER WRITE 'TRILBY'?"

DID Du Maurier write "Trilby"? was the question propounded on April 29, in the United States Court, held in Denver, Col., when the suit of Harper & Brothers and A. M. Palmer for an injunction against the Lyceum stock company to restrain them from producing "Trilby" at their theatre, was called. The defendants make the absurd allegation that the book called "Trilby" was not originated, invented, or written by Du Maurier. They assert that the original title and book of "Trilby" was first published in France in 1820, and afterward translated and published in English in 1847, and that the title and book have been common property for many years. The attorneys for the plaintiffs asked for time to communicate with their clients in New York as to the course they should pursue, and the court postponed the hearing until a later day.

AMERICAN REPRINTS OF ENGLISH AUTHORS NOT ALLOWED TO CIRCULATE IN AUSTRALIA.

A SUIT brought by William Draper, of San Francisco, Cal., against Peter F. Collier, the New York publisher, corroborates the information given recently by this office to several inquirers that British copyright protects the work of English authors against unauthorized reprints wherever England rules.

It appears that the plaintiff resigned from a good place and spent six months in California as an agent. He then purchased from Holy, one of Collier's agents, a large number of books, written chiefly by English authors, and took them to Sydney, New South Wales, where he opened an office. The books were shipped to Melbourne. There the Custom House officers refused to admit them, as it is a violation of the copyright laws of the United Kingdom to sell books written and copyrighted by Englishmen and published outside the kingdom. Draper alleges that he was wilfully deceived by Holy, and that Collier, as Holy's employer, is responsible.

FOREIGN MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS NOT INCLUDED IN THE "MANUFACTURING CLAUSE."

THE U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals held in Boston, on April 25, rendered an important decision in regard to musical copyright. The case was that of the Oliver Ditson Co., defendants appellants, vs. A. H. Littleton et al., complainants appellees. The decision was upon the construction of the proviso in section 3 of the copyright law of March 3, 1891. The proposition laid down by the court is that musical compositions composed abroad do not come within the proviso which requires that the two copies of the subject-matter of the copyright necessary to be filed with the Librarian of Congress, shall be manufactured in this country.

The appellees were granted an injunction restraining the Oliver Ditson Co. from making or selling copies of the musical compositions "O Ye That Love the Lord," composed by J. W. Elliott; "A Song of Judgment," composed by C. H. Lloyd; "For the Earth Shall be Filled" and "Lead Kindly Light," composed by W. Harrison. The pieces were composed in England, and it was the claim of the defendant that the requirements of the copyright law had not been complied with by the complainants.

The question presented for the consideration of the court was whether under section 3 of the above act musical composition is a "book, photograph, chromo or lithograph," and the two copies necessary to be filed with the Librarian of Congress shall be manufactured from plates made in this country. The Court of Appeals says:

"We are satisfied with the conclusion of the circuit court in this case, and adopt the opinion of the learned judge of that court, except that we do not deem it necessary to investigate the history of the bill which resulted in the copyright statute of Mar. 3, 1891, 26 statute 1106, under question in these proceedings, or to determine how far that history is pertinent to the construction of the case. The case deals with copyrighted matters alone, which are only the musical parts, or notations, of complainants' publications. We are not called on to consider a case in which more than the notation is covered by a copyright.

"That musical compositions, as such, differ in the view of the copyright law from books, as such, necessarily follows from the fact when musical compositions were first made copyrightable, the penalty for infringing was made expressly and distinctly other than for infringing the copyrighted book. Act of Feb. 3, 1891, sections 6 and 7, 4 statute, act of Mar. 3, 1891, sections 7 and 8; 26 statutes 1107. There are other particulars in which the statute makes the same distinction; but in this one the result is unavoidable. What were copyrighted here were clearly musical compositions, and nothing else; and the distinction thus made by these penal provisions cannot be maintained, unless the result reached by the court is accepted.

"It is true that in some parts of the statutes the words 'book print and musical composition' refer to the intellectual conception as the essential element and in other parts may refer more particularly to the material form in which it is expressed; but nowhere does either element exclusively exist, because no intellectual conception is copyrightable until it has taken material shape. Therefore there is no reason for holding that the use of the words 'book, photograph, chromo or lithograph' in the proviso involves a departure from the distinctive idea appertaining to either in other parts of the statutes touching the subject-matter of copyright.

"If the statutes were of doubtful meaning, the history of the bill, the omission of the words 'dramatic composition' from some of the provisions of the statutes, the contemporaneous construction by the departments or officers of the U. S., and perhaps other propositions urged upon either side, might have weight; but in a case so clear as the one at bar we do not deem it necessary to invoke such aids, or to note the conditions or limitations under which such considerations should weigh in the interpretation of doubtful statutory provisions. The decree of the circuit court is affirmed."

NO COPYRIGHT IN THE CIVIL LIST OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

A HEARING was had on April 23, in the United States Circuit Court, at Utica, N. Y., before Judge Alfred C. Coxe, in the action of Weed-Parsons Company and James H. Manning against James B. Lyon over the copyright to the civil list of the State of New York, claimed to be owned by the Weed-Parsons Co. and Manning as assignees of the rights of the old firm of Weed, Parsons & Co. Judge Coxe refused to continue pending suit, a preliminary stay granted by Judge Wallace, and virtually decided that Weed, Parsons & Co. had no valid copyright to the civil list of 1888-91, which they claimed Mr. Lyon had infringed in his red book for 1895, and also refused to grant any injunction in the matter, leaving Mr. Lyon and the public to use the matter as they saw fit as compilation of the public records not protected by any copyright owned by either the Weed-Parsons Co. or Mr. Manning.

READINGS "IN COSTUME" FROM AN AUTHORIZED DRAMATIZED VERSION OF A COPYRIGHT BOOK NOT LAWFUL.

EVER since Nellie Ganthony gave her "Trilby" monologue at the Eden Musée in New York City some weeks ago there have been rumors afloat that A. M. Palmer, who owns the dramatization of Du Maurier's story, had a good cause of action for an injunction against the English artist, and that he would eventually secure one. Miss Ganthony, in her performance, not only appears in costume as Trilby, but she sings the three songs of the Paris model.

Both Mr. Palmer, who pays a royalty to Du Maurier for the privilege of presenting the play, and Harper & Brothers, who hold the copyright of the book, had agents present at the Eden Musée when Miss Ganthony first appeared as Trilby, and on the strength of the reports of these agents a suit for an injunction forbidding Miss Ganthony to continue the presentation of Trilby on the stage was begun. Judge Lacombe, of the United States Circuit Court, after listening to arguments on both sides, April 27 issued a permanent injunction, as prayed for by Mr. Palmer.

This decision, if it stands, practically gives to Manager Palmer the sole and exclusive right to the use of Du Maurier's book for dramatic purposes. "It probably would not interfere with a reading of 'Trilby,' said a well-known lawyer to a Times reporter, "unless the reader appeared in costume, and at a regular theatrical performance, as Miss Ganthony does. But for all purposes of dramatic representation, it settles the question in favor of Mr. Palmer. Of course, Miss Ganthony can appeal, but the importance of her 'Trilby' monologue is hardly great enough to induce her to go to that expense."

"TAMERLANE" DROPS TO ITS LEVEL.

THE only known perfect, and in every respect fine, copy of the original edition of Poe's "Tamerlane," that was sold at auction by Libbie & Co. three years ago to Dodd, Mead & Co. for $1850, and resold by the latter firm to George T. Maxwell for $2500, was again sold by Libbie & Co. on the afternoon of the 25th inst. to Dodd, Mead & Co. The price this time paid for it was $1450, or $400 less than they paid for it in the first place and $1050 less than the price which Mr. Maxwell paid for it.

The occasion on which the sale was consummated was the second and concluding day's sale of the Maxwell library, and when at 2 o'clock the first book was offered by George Morse, the auctioneer, the room was crowded chiefly by those who were curious to see what the "Tamerlane" would bring. There was a good deal of guessing on the result, and expert opinion—which was finally justified—declared for a lower price than that of 1892. The market for old books is not particularly strong at present, and the early hysteria over this particular nugget was thought to have considerably cooled off. The majority of the guesses were for $1500 even a year ago, when it did not seem likely that the book would again appear in an auction-room. "Tamerlane" was reached at about 3.15 o'clock and it took just two minutes to sell it. Five hundred dollars was the first bid, and immediately it jumped by even hundreds to $1200, and then more slowly and by fifties, to the end. "Last call," shouted George Morse, appealingly. "One—two—three, Dodd, Mead & Co., for $1450." It is generally thought the price was not bad. It might perhaps have gone higher, if the next highest bidder at the 1892 sale had not since died.

The history of the Maxwell copy has already been told in these columns. The book as first sold in 1892 was bound in the original paper covers, and contained forty pages coarsely printed. The "Tamerlane" itself—there were several minor poems included in the little pamphlet—is not identical with the "Tamerlane" which we now read in Poe's works, but was considerably shorter and cruder than the later version. An imperfect copy is in the British Museum, and another is in this country somewhere. It was advertised by a Baltimore concern about a year ago, but nothing more has been heard from it since. Mr. Richard Lichtenstein, now one of the proprietors of the Old South Book-Store, bought the Maxwell copy at a bookshop in Cornhill for twenty-five cents. He realized a handsome profit when Mr. Libbie induced him to put it up at auction three years ago. Mr. Maxwell had the copy bound in Paris at an expense of $300. The following is a description of the binding as it is given in the auctioneer's catalogue:

Brown crushed levant, with sides ornamented with mosaic of blue levant, in a beautiful interlaced floriated design; the flowers, leaves and petals are all inlaid in colors, red, blue, green, yellow, with monogram in each corner, double of pure white parchment, wide dentelle borders, vellum fly-leaves, with the original covers bound in, entirely uncut, by Lortic fils, inclosed in crushed levant morocco pull-off case, blind tooled.

It is more than probable that the book would have greater value to a collector in its native original innocence, and that its gorgeous dress will not add much to its value in future sales.

OBITUARY.

OTTO HENRI LORENZ.

OTTO HENRI LORENZ, so long identified with the French book-trade that his German origin has been almost forgotten, died at Paris on March 26, and was buried with fitting honor on March 29. M. Lorenz was born at Leipzig in 1831. His father, who occupied an enviable position in the commercial world and did a large export business, desired his son to succeed him in his successful business career, but from his university days in the book atmosphere of Leipzig, M. Lorenz had longed to be a bookseller and publisher. After enjoying exceptional educational advantages, M. Lorenz began his career as an apprentice in the Walthersche Buchhandlung at Dresden, and from there went to Verona to the Münster firm. In 1853 he was offered an excellent position in the great house of K. F. Kohler in Leipzig. Following the custom of the employees of German book firms, Otto Lorenz decided to see new countries and learn other methods, and after a profitable engagement with K. F. Kohler, he went to London and entered the Trübner firm. Here his special talents were at once recognized. He became Trübner's right hand man, especially in cataloguing work, which to the last was with Lorenz a passion. Here he edited his "Guide Through American Literature," and published several anonymous pamphlets that testified to his unusual erudition. Still restless, in 1855 the aspiring young bookseller drifted to France, with the highest recommendations, to C. Reinwald, in whose establishment some of the most celebrated booksellers have served their time. Here he at once secured a fine position, his knowledge of almost all the languages of civilized nations and his untiring love of work and almost passion for cataloguing being keenly appreciated. He for years did most important editorial work on the Bulletin Mensuel and on the Catalogue annuel de la librairie française, founded by Reinwald. The latter desired to make M. Lorenz a member of his firm, but the young man preferred independence, and established himself as an agent for foreign books. Now began his life-work—"Le catalogue général de la librairie française" (1840-1865), to which he devoted six years. The work appeared in four volumes in 1867. Volumes 5 and 6 covered the years 1866-1875; volumes 7 and 8 contained the index of the first six volumes; volumes 9 and 10 covered the years from 1876-1885; and volume 11 contained the index of volumes 9 and 10. This catalogue has been received as a masterpiece throughout the world, and no library of reference is considered complete without it. The correspondence undertaken by M. Lorenz to insure its accuracy and to complete its titles was carefully preserved and given as the greatest token of esteem to the learned bookseller, Berger-Levrault, who has since presented it to the National Library.

As a help in his own business, M. Lorenz in 1862 began the Catalogue Mensuel de la librairie française, which since 1884 has been continued by Nilsson. In 1883 M. Lorenz retired from active business and devoted himself wholly to bibliography. He published Maurice Block's "Dictionnaire d'économie politique" and devoted himself to his great French catalogue, of which he finished the last volume in 1888. Then he began to travel and went all over the world until this year. In intervals of travel he put the four series of his catalogue into one alphabet, covering the years from 1840 to 1890, giving all the corrections and added information that time had brought him. This work includes the twelfth volume which M. D. Jordell edited for M. Per Lamm and which was brought out in 1889. Emile Ballière, the lifelong friend of M. Lorenz, hopes in his tribute to his friend in the Bibliographie de la France that some one may be found to print this catalogue. M. Lorenz died of some affection of the heart. He had become a naturalized French citizen. Bibliography throughout the world has suffered a great loss.

OBITUARY NOTES.

GUSTAV FREYTAG, the German novelist and playwright died April 29, at Wiesbaden, Germany. He was born at Silesia in 1816. He studied at Breslau and Berlin and became Prof. of the German language and German literature at Breslau. In 1848 he returned to Leipzig, and with Julian Schmidt engaged in editorial work on one of the most influential political papers, the Grenzboten. Off and on he conducted this paper until 1870, when he was summoned to the seat of war by the German Crown Prince. His novels dealt chiefly with socialistic subjects, and they have been translated into all languages. "Debit and Credit," "The Fabians," "The Last Manuscript," are among his most popular writings, but his great work was "Die Ahnen" (Our ancestors), a series of six novels descriptive of German life from the time of the Romans to the Napoleonic wars. His collected works, numbering twenty-two volumes, appeared in 1887.

PROF. KARL LUDWIG, the eminent physician, died at Leipzig at the age of 79. He was called to take charge of the chair of physiology in Leipzig University in 1865 and retained the office through life. It is said that half the physiology known is due to him and his pupils. He invented the kynographic method for studying blood pressure. Among his noted publications are "The Gas of the Blood," written in 1869; also "The Structural Conditions of the Heart, the Liver, the Kidneys and Other Internal Organs." "The Secretion of the Kidneys" is among his great works.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Critic for April 27 contains a full biographical note of Mr. John Fiske, the historian, showing the precocious aptitude and unflagging diligence which have always characterized this writer.

The Atlantic Monthly for May contains the second paper on "New Figures in Literature and Art," dealing with Richard Harding Davis, and also another paper on autographs by George Birkbeck Hill.

The North American Review for May contains "Glimpses of Charles Dickens," by his son, giving an insight into the social life of his father and describing his great fondness for private theatricals. In the same issue appears the fifth instalment of the "Personal History of the Second Empire," by Albert D. Vandam, author of the clever volume "An Englishman in Paris."

THE first number of Chapman's Magazine of Fiction is just ready. It contains, besides instalments of serials by Mr. Bret Harte and Miss Violet Hunt, short stories by Mr. James Payn, Mr. Stanley Weyman, Mr. Anthony Hope, and Mrs. W. K. Clifford. In addition, there will be a ballad of nearly 200 lines by Mr. John Davidson. The new magazine is evidently to make a liberal bid for popularity.

Scribner's Magazine for May contains an interesting article by Arsène Alexandre on "French Posters and Book Covers," with reproductions of originals by Steinlen, Bonnard, De Feure, Grasset, Forain, Willette and Chéret. The writer points out that the commerce in posters has become an active business, the print-sellers having arranged with the proprietors that part of every printing should be reserved for amateurs.

Harper's Young People, with its issue of April 30, changes its name to Harper's Round Table. For fifteen years this periodical has been an educational as well as entertaining influence among our young people, and we regret the change of its specially happy name. Three years ago the readers of Harper's Young People formed themselves into an order which they termed "The Round Table," after the ancient King Arthur legends, and of which the object was to bring chivalry and mutual help up to date. This order has grown so popular that it was able to hold a great reunion in the New York State Building at the World's Fair, its membership then reaching a quarter of a million young people, living in every country under the sun. These members trade stamps, hold photographic exhibits, study flowers and minerals, get up entertainments and organize local societies which form the nucleus of school and town libraries. Harper's Round Table will retain all the good things of Harper's Young People, but will make some changes aiming at wider fields of usefulness and pleasure. Special attention will be given to sports in the leading schools of the country, and there will be a department of bicycling under an able editor. The remodelling of the page of the journal in its proportions, type, etc., will increase the amount of reading matter furnished in each issue. It can hardly be hoped that a new name can add to the popularity of Harper's Young People.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

GINN & Co. have just added to their International Modern Language Series Molière's "Les Précieuses Ridicules," edited, with introduction, notes and vocabulary, by Marshall W. Davis, of the Roxbury Latin School, Mass.

THE features of special interest at the exhibition of Gustav Kruell's engravings on wood, just closed at the gallery of Frederick Keppel and Co., were portraits of Oliver Wendell Holmes and George Du Maurier, specially engraved for this exhibition.

KNOEDLER & Co. first received information on Friday last leading to the discovery that they had been robbed while moving their stock of paintings and valuable works of art from their old store, at 22d St. and Fifth Ave., to No. 355 Fifth Ave., of about 300 etchings, amounting in value to from $10,000 to $15,000. Prompt work on the part of detectives has led to the recovery of the greater part of the stolen goods.

THE HOME PUBLISHING Co., New York City, will have ready about June 1 "The Ladies' Jugernaut," an illustrated summer novel, containing some descriptions of distinctively American life, as shown in Florida, in London, and at Narragansett, by Archibald Clavering Gunter, author of "Mr. Barnes of New York" and of many other stories calculated to make American money and position hunters pause and think.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co.'s Riverside Literature Series is a collection of gems especially intended for higher grades of schools. It has reached its 74th issue, which is devoted to selections from Thomas Gray and William Cowper, and gives an excellent biographical sketch of both authors. Some of the best-known poems of Wordsworth and Burns will form the next volume, and, later on, there will appear selections from Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

GEORGE BRUMDER, Milwaukee, Wis., has issued three parts of the second and concluding volume of Nehrling's "North American Birds" (ix-xi), to contain thirty-six plates after watercolor paintings by Prof. R. Ridgway, of the Smithsonian Institute, Prof. A. Goering, Leipzig, and G. Muetzel, Berlin, reproduced in highly finished style by Ernest Kaufmann, of New York City, who makes a specialty of chromo work. The name of the publication has been changed to "Our Native Birds of Song and Beauty." Five more parts will complete the work.

THE title of a little book published by Sylva Clapin, 7 Park Square, Boston, purporting to be imaginary fragments of the writings of Paul Bourget, and advertised as a suite of "L'Outre Mer," was so misleading that very many casual readers have attributed the really bright book to the successful psychological novelist. It is really only an imitation of his style and mannerisms by an author who prefers to remain anonymous. To avoid further misunderstandings the sub-headings of title have now been changed. The book is noticed in the list this week.

ROBERTS BROTHERS' recent publications comprise a number of specially timely and interesting books. Lucy's "Study of W. E. Gladstone," and Lowe's "Life of Prince Bismarck," rank with the important biographies of the year, while the "Life and Adventures of John Gladwyn Jebb" is a true narrative of exciting interest. Grant Allen's "Woman Who Did" is already in its third edition, while in the same series—the Keynotes—is "Women's Tragedies," a strong study by H. D. Lowrey. Among their other recent books are Arthur Morrison's "Tales of Mean Streets"; "How We Rose," by David N. Beach; "God's Light as it Came to Me," an anonymous personal experience of the Christian science faith; "The Curse of Intellect"; another volume of Miss Wormeley's Balzac, "Lucien de Rubempré"; and a new uniform edition of Stevenson's more popular works.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will issue immediately "William the Silent, Prince of Orange, the Moderate Man of the 16th Century," by Ruth Putnam, giving the story of his life as told in his own letters, in those of his friends and his enemies, and from official documents, a biography in two volumes, which is the result of many years of labor, involving the examination of the original documents available in the collections of Holland and North Germany and the examination of the records in Geneva of the Protestant correspondence with Holland during the period of the great struggle for existence of Dutch Protestantism. Other works almost ready are "Wild Flowers of the Northeastern States," drawn and carefully described for unscientific readers, by Margaret C. Whiting and Ellen Miller, covering ground as yet uncovered by previous botanical writings; "Water Tramps; or, The Cruise of the 'Sea-Bird,'" by George Herbert Bartlett; and "Every Day's News," No. 7 in The Incognito Library.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish shortly the first two volumes of the long-delayed, much-talked-of "Memoirs of Barras, member of the Directorate," edited, with a general introduction, prefaces, and appendices, by George Duruy, a work that will undoubtedly prove to be political history of no small importance; the third volume of James Ford Rhodes' "History of the United States"; Henry B. Fuller's new realistic novel of Chicago life entitled "With the Procession"; "Afloat with the Flag," another sea yarn for boys, by W. J. Henderson, favorably known for his former work in a similar direction; "The Master," the pathetic story of the trials, triumphs and tragedy of the life of Matthew Strang, a painter; "The Martyred Fool," a strong and interesting study of anarchism, by David Christie Murray; "The Judgment Books," by E. F. Benson, in Harper's Little Novels series; and two volumes of verse—"Rhymes of Our Planet," and "Little Knights and Ladies," by Margaret E. Sangster, in which she touches upon every subject likely to please young readers. This firm also has in press "Pony Tracks," written and illustrated by Frederic Remington, in which he tells of his life on the plains and in the mountains, in camps and barracks, among cowboys, "greasers" and Indians—all spiced with the charm of absolute experience; the second and concluding volume of George Ticknor Curtis' "Constitutional History of the United States," edited by Joseph C. Clayton; "Studies in Men," by George W. Smalley; and a volume of poems by W. D. Howells, entitled "Stops of Various Quills," with illustrations by Howard Pyle.

MACMILLAN & Co. have just ready "Outlines of Social Theology," by Rev. Dr. William De Witt Hyde, President of Bowdoin College, who has brought his specialty of mental and moral philosophy to bear upon his purpose to relieve theology from the barren abstractions of the past and to bring it into effective harmony with the ideas of a rapidly developing civilization; "The Evolution of Industry," by Henry Dyer, giving a thoughtful estimate of the development of an organization of labor that will promote the welfare of the community; "Æsthetic Principles," by Henry Rutgers Marshall, treated from the observer's, the artist's and the critic's standpoints; "Adoption and Amendment of Constitutions in Europe and America," by Charles Borgeaud, translated by C. D. Hazen; and "Birdcraft," by Mabel Osgood Wright, giving descriptions of 200 birds and colored plates of 128. In lighter vein there are almost ready "Celibates," by George Moore, author of "Esther Waters"; "Almayer's Folly," the story of an Eastern river by Joseph Conrad; "Children of the Ghetto," by I. Zangwill; "Bleak House," the new volume of Macmillan's Dickens; and "Tom Cringle's Log," the new volume of Macmillan's Illustrated Standard Novels. William Winter's "Shakespeare's England" is the first issue in Macmillan's Miniature Series; to be followed in June by "The Friendship of Nature," by Mabel Osgood Wright; and in July by Goldwin Smith's "A Trip to England"; and "Marcella" is the May issue in Macmillan's Novelists' Library, to be followed in monthly order by Crawford's "San Ilario"; "The Naulahka," by Rudyard Kipling and Wolcott Balestier; and Mrs. Ward's "History of David Grieve."

FOREIGN NOTES.

AN excellent German translation of "Ben-Hur" is being issued in parts by the German Verlags Anstalt of Stuttgart, Germany. Parts 17 to 19 have just appeared. The type, paper and illustrations make the book very pleasing.

THE Sultan of Turkey has ordered that the sale or exhibition of portraits of Mr. Gladstone or Prof. Bryce, President of the British Board of Trade, be prohibited in Constantinople. Copies which have been sent to the Armenian clergy have been seized as coming under the classification of "seditious literature."

THE Pan Association (Genossenschaft Pan), which was founded last year by prominent representatives of the literature and art of Germany and other countries, announces that Part I. of the first year's issue (consisting of five parts) is just ready. It contains fourteen full-page plates, one of which is an etching after a painting by J. N. Whistler.

THE ASSOCIATION OF GERMAN BOOKSELLERS, Leipzig, in sending congratulations to Prince Bismarck on his eightieth birthday, said: "Since Luther, no man has so moved the German book trade, no author taken such a disinterested position in the German nation. The booksellers of Leipzig send thanks for the laws which govern them, and make vows of a patriotic trade spirit." One of the results of the Bismarck birthday celebrations has been the publication of an elaborate bibliography at Leipzig. It is entitled "Die Bismarck-Literatur," and contains a chronological index of all the works which have been published in Germany concerning the great statesman.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE.

OUTLINES OF SOCIAL THEOLOGY.

By WM. DE WITT HYDE, D.D., President of Bowdoin College and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"* * * President Hyde has done a noble and much-needed work in preparing this volume and giving it to the public. It is in every way a splendid discussion. The author takes us beneath the surface of things, and shows us the vital relations of true religion to human society, and the indispensability of sound doctrine in the solution of all social problems. . . . It is a most thoughtful, wholesome and stimulating book. It is suggestive and thought provoking rather than exhaustive, and that is a merit of only good books."—The Evangelical Messenger.

"The book is one that thoughtful men of whatever sectarian learning may examine with profit, for it indicates a very positive and wholesome tendency to relieve theology from the barren abstractions of the past, and to bring it into effective harmony with the ideas of a rapidly developing civilization."—The Beacon.

The Evolution of Industry.

By HENRY DYER, C.E., M.A., D.Sc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"An attempt to estimate the value of the various factors in the industrial problem, and to show that they have common components, and are developing an organization of labor that will meet the conditions necessary for efficiency and promote the welfare of the community."

BY THE AUTHOR OF "PAIN, PLEASURE, AND ÆSTHETICS."

ÆSTHETIC PRINCIPLES.

By HENRY RUTGERS MARSHALL, M.A. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

* * * The Observer's Standpoint.—The Artist's Standpoint.—The Critic's Standpoint.—Algedonic Æsthetics, etc.

By the Author of "The Friendship of Nature."

Birdcraft.

A Field Book of Two Hundred Song, Game and Water Birds. By MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT. With full-page plates containing 128 birds in their natural colors and other illustrations. 8vo, linen, $3.00.

"The importance of the colored prints cannot be over-estimated, for they enable one to determine at a glance the rough classification of the birds one may see about the gardens or along the seashore."

"The text gives the descriptions and biographies of two hundred species, a synopsis of the families to which they belong, and a simple Key by which the birds may be identified, either by their color or by some equally visible quality."

New Novel.

Almayer's Folly.

A story of an Eastern River. By JOSEPH CONRAD. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Children of the Ghetto.

By I. ZANGWILL, author of "King of the Schnorrers." 12mo, cloth. (Nearly Ready.)

Adoption and Amendment of Constitutions in Europe and America.

By CHARLES BORGEAUD. Translated by C. D. Hazen, Professor of History in Smith College. With an introduction by J. M. Vincent, Johns Hopkins University. Extra crown 8vo, $2.00.

A brief but systematic treatise on the methods by which constitutions are adopted and changed in all the countries of Europe and America where written charters prevail.

In the Press. NEW NOVEL BY THE AUTHOR OF "ESTHER WATERS."

CELIBATES.

2. The Friendship of Nature. By MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT. (June.)
3. A Trip to England. By GOLDWIN SMITH. (July.)

New volume of the Iris Library.

A Lost Endeavor.

By GUY BOOTHBY, author of "On the Wallaby," "A Bid for Fortune," etc. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents.

Mr. Boothby is rapidly winning a name and a place for himself as a writer of stories full of the magic of the Pacific. Mr. Stanley L. Wood illustrates the story from material supplied him by the author.

The "Iris Library"—First Issue.

Tryphena in Love.

By WALTER RAYMOND, author of "Gentleman Upcott's Daughter," "Love and Quiet Life," etc. Illustrated by J. Walter West. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents.

"Full of freshness and life, of vivid touches of local color and picturesque details, while written with the tenderness, sympathy, and artistic discernment that have made the author's early work famous."

New volume of Macmillan's Dickens.

Bleak House.

By CHARLES DICKENS. Edited, with introduction and Original Preface, by Charles Dickens, the Younger, with the illustrations by Phiz. A valuable reprint of the text of the first edition. Each novel of the series complete in one volume. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Macmillan's Illustrated Standard Novels.

NEW VOLUME.

Tom Cringle's Log.

By MICHAEL SCOTT. Illustrated by J. Ayton Symington. With an introduction by Mowbray Morris. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

When "Tom Cringle's Log" first appeared it was hailed by the critics as one of the most brilliant books of the time, and it has kept its place in popularity alongside of Marryat, Cooper, and Dana ever since.

Already Published.

“Summer Reading.”

To Retail Dealers :

The SUMMER CATALOGUE, issued for seventeen years, has been found so useful and profitable by enterprising dealers that it has become a regular feature of the trade. The eighteenth issue, with an entirely new cover, in a special pamphlet adapted for imprint circulation all through the summer, will be published in connection with THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY about the first of June.

The imprint editions will contain, in addition to a catalogue of guide-books and light literature for summer reading, an entirely new selection of reading-matter both of a practical and entertaining character, chiefly intended for the use and amusement of tourists, pleasure seekers, and visitors of summer resorts.

Booksellers should remember that, while summer is usually a dull time, the sales of light literature, etc., can be pushed to make a successful business even in this season. The classes who travel are of course those who have money to spend, even in dull times, and the summer is the time when very many bookbuyers do the greater part of their reading. Booksellers at or near summer resorts should especially avail themselves of this publication, while city dealers should remember that it will also be useful to tempt stay-at-homes to make investments, or to follow up customers otherwise out of reach.

✎ Orders for imprint editions at subscription rates should be sent in at once, as the quantity is limited.

Terms for Editions with Imprint:

100 copies,	$3 50
250 "	8 00
500 "	15 00

Directions for shipping should be given with the order. If sent by mail, postage will be charged extra.

"OXFORD" BIBLE WAREHOUSE,
 ♦ ♦ 33 East 17th St., New York.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS,

Sole Agents for the United States.

Special Announcement.

Will Issue, EARLY IN MAY, 1895,

THREE NEW EDITIONS OF

"OXFORD" TEXT BIBLES.

FOUR NEW EDITIONS OF

"OXFORD" REFERENCE BIBLES.

FOUR NEW EDITIONS OF GENUINE

"OXFORD" TEACHERS' BIBLES.

THESE Editions are MODELS IN ALL RESPECTS, and are BEAUTIFULLY AND CLEARLY PRINTED AND STRONGLY BOUND. They represent to a degree hitherto unattained LARGE TYPE IN SMALL BOOKS.

We will offer an unusually large number of new styles of OXFORD PRAYER BOOKS and HYMNALS on Fine White and the Famous Oxford India Paper, embracing all the new Leathers.

Some important additions have been made to our line of JUVENILE and SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOOKS, including new books by well-known writers and new editions of R. M. Ballantyne's books for boys.

Splendid New Editions of SIR WALTER SCOTT'S POEMS, printed on White and Oxford India Paper, in One and Five Volumes complete.

Our travellers are now on the road with a full line of samples.

We suggest to the Trade it will be to their advantage to see these lines before placing any orders, as we are confident they represent The Ideal Line of Bibles, Prayer Books, Hymnals, etc., at Satisfactory Prices.

New Illustrated Catalogue on application.
